FOREWORD

The Lotus Staff has planned this annual to be a picture of the exciting days spent at Peace in both work and play. Our growth not only physically, but spiritually and morally, from young girls to the adults that we are when we leave Peace, is portrayed in the Lotus.

The annual staff presents the Lotus of 1953-54 with pride and love for the girls who look back with us through the imaginary keyhole to happy days at our Alma Mater, Peace College.

TRIBUTE

A vision of Peace over the past twenty-two years is incomplete without the figure of one whose guidance has been a source of wholesome influence upon the lives of the girls. Miss Lucy Steele—a faithful and loving servant of her Lord—gave her years of service to Him through her efforts at Peace College. Although much of Miss Steele's time was spent in many other places "speaking a piece" and "speaking of Peace," we feel that she was ours, heart and soul.

We, her girls, knew Miss Steele as a teacher, counselor, and friend. In the capacity of instructor, she served in the classroom, teaching regular Bible classes and in chapel on Wednesdays teaching again so that those who were not enrolled in a regular Bible class were privileged to enjoy her wise instruction. As a counselor, Miss Steele's role included that of adviser to the Peace Student Christian Association and personal counselor to those who sought her understanding advice. Miss Steele's friendship to her girls is one of the most treasured memories that they hold of her. Her personal interest in each and their relationships toward God and others (especially the "true love") has meant very much to all who sought opportunities to secure her guidance.

To one whose faith, ability, energy, sense of humor, and enthusiasm the students of Peace College will always admire and to one whose memory they will ever cherish—the Lotus of 1954 pays its highest tribute.

THE COLLEGE

ADMINISTRATION

DR. PRESSLY

To Peace girls, the King of Hearts is their president, for he is loved by them all. He sits on the throne in his office, humble and receptive, kind and understanding—their friend, their wise counselor. A truly regal personality is Dr. Pressly.

MISS HALL

It is with respect, admiration, and affection that we hail our Queen of Hearts, Miss Hall. Our dean, our Peace Mother, our true friend—Miss Hall has been our counselor in many difficult situations and our constant guardian. The 1954 student body of Peace College salutes her.

CLASS POEM

College is a wonderland of books and friends and dreams
And dreams come true,
Of working times and playing times and plots and plans and schemes
And how they grew:

A wonderland we soon must leave
But though we go away
The luster of this wonderland
Rubs off on us to stay;
The knowledge we have gained at Peace
Will linger with each girl
As we go from this wonderland
Into the wonderworld.

CLASS HISTORY

It was like a dream, but nevertheless there I was—seated at a very confusing-looking table. The Mad Hatter and March Hare were engaged in a very heated argument over the crowded condition of the table around which we sat, but it was finally decided that there would be plenty of room for all if each would occupy only a small designated portion of the available space. I gazed around the table to see if the other guests were in the state of confusion which I maintained or if they were as peculiarly fitted to the environment as my two friends, the Mad Hatter and the March Hare. To my amazement, I recognized two of the guests as being my two former roommates at Peace College, Ann Bostic Reynolds and Martha Black; and we immediately fell into conversation which soon led to reminiscing of days at Peace.

"I remember that first day so well," said Ann, "because it was filled with registering, buying books, unpacking, and meeting everyone on the hall."

"Yes, and then that night we had a hall party," replied Martha. "I remember that Ann looked so sad. In fact, all of us looked like first-class sad sacks."

"Two days later the old girls arrived and the P.S.C.A. campus party took place," I remarked. "We played games and sang songs in order to meet everyone. Then, the next day classes began."

"Elections were held several weeks later," remarked Martha, "and Ann was elected president of our class. Jean Peake, Mary Ross Anderson, and Sally Bullock were our other officers."

"Don't forget Mrs. Rhodes, our sponsor," replied Ann. "She certainly was a big help to us in planning the Junior-Senior Prom the following April."

"Yes," replied Martha, "and the theme, Under the Sea, was beautifully carried out."

"Wait a minute," I said, "you're jumping ahead of time. Don't overlook Rush Week and making the choice of which society to join, and then Rat Day. I thought my knees would never be the same after crawling from the Rec room to the front door; and running around so early in the morning, taking exercises, picking up acorns and eating goo—blindfolded at that!—made me think I'd never live through the day! However, it was worth it when we took our vows during initiation. We were then full pledged members—not Rats or just lowly pledges!"

"And then came the Society Banquet at the Carolina Hotel. We had wonderful food and entertainment, and we rode in style, too—on city busses," said Martha laughing.

"Talking about food," said Ann, trying to get in a few words, "remember when the baskets of food were given to the maids, the laundry workers, and Irene and Mabel? It was on the day we were getting out for Thanksgiving holidays, and amid all the excitement of going home, the P.S.C.A. sponsored this sharing program. I thought it was a happy, even though tearful, event; it made me realize how thankful I should be. However, soon we were back, and we faced exams. Some of us took our minds off our books by having 'lion hunts' and 'beach parties.' Then we started looking forward to the Christmas holidays. Many of us took part in the traditional pageant, while others sang in the concert given by the choir on the day before we were to go home. After the concert we sang carols on the stairs and then marched into the dining room to eat our Christmas dinner. During the delicious turkey dinner we exchanged gifts at our tables, sang, and gave gifts to the waiters and cooks. Following a studyless closed study, we had hall parties and finally went to sleep dreaming about those wonderful days ahead."

"Coming back to Peace in a new year, we tried to stick our noses into our books once more and settle down," recalled Martha, "but it was hard. There were so many other things to do, like practicing for Stunt Night; then when Stunt Night was held, our class won! We were so proud! We had beaten all the other classes, including the Seniors! Then, second quarter exams and visitation week ends rolled around. The 'Sigs' had a George Washington Ball; and the 'Rhos' had a dance in April, followed by spring holidays and the Junior-Senior."

"Yes," I replied, "and during this time elections were taking place and Jean Peake and Ann were elected to represent the Junior Class in May Day. Some of us did those crazy dances, and it was hilarious!"

"Then our future roommate was again elected to lead our class the coming year," reminded Martha.

"Yes, Ann was a 'big deal' now because this office automatically made her vice-president of the student body," I added.

"Well, don't forget that Mary Ross was elected president of the student body. She was so little to have all the brains and energy she possessed. Sally Bullock proved her capability by being elected president of the P.S.C.A.," said Ann, "and Rose Dickinson was chosen to be editor of the Lotts."

"Class Day rolled around and the Seniors pinned green and white ribbons on us, signifying that we were at long last Seniors ourselves!"

"Those summer months passed mighty fast," remarked Martha. "It was no time before we were back here unpacking, buying books, and greeting old friends. I remember that I felt so good—being a Senior and knowing so many people. I truly wasn't a lowly underclassman any more."

"Then came our turn to rush the new girls," I said. "It must have been difficult for the new girls to decide which of the three societies seemed more attractive. Rat Day soon arrived and the mean things we'd planned were rained out. Those new girls just didn't realize how lucky they were."

"The entertainment at the Society Banquet was exceptionally good that year," remarked Ann; "and then the Thanksgiving holidays rolled around again, with exams following those four happy days of vacation. Then Christmas was here almost before we knew it."

"When annual picture-taking time rolled around, the elections for 'Miss Peace' and the eight outstanding Seniors kept us in suspense for a few days," I said. "Sally Bullock was elected 'Miss Peace'; and Mary Ross, Martha, Marie, Shirley, Gwen, and Patsy were chosen as other outstanding boarding students. We were so pleased to have Rose Dickinson and Sally Thompson, two of our day students, represented among that select few."

"Stunt night, visitation week ends, exams, and the daily routine of school took up our time until spring holidays. Following that came the Junior-Senior Prom. The Juniors really provided us with a good time."

"Let's not forget that our 'roomie' reigned as our Max Queen. You really did look queenly, Ann," I said to her.

"Thanks," replied Ann, "but don't forget that Jean Peake was Maid of Honor. She looked so lovely in that beautiful dress."

"Then it was time to practice Class Day," Martha recalled, "and during those passing days we'd been ordering graduation invitations, picking out our white dresses, and getting ready for those final exams."

"Yes, and graduation was so exciting, yet sad," said Ann. "Walking down the aisle of the chapel with those red roses in our arms meant that we were truly leaving Peace and all its many experiences, both joyful and sorrowful."

"And all our friends," I added. "Those days will never be forgotten; they will live on forever in the hearts of the class of '54."

SALVIA MORROW, Historian.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the class of 1954, leave to those who need them certain valuable qualities and privileges, that we have in our possession, and, out of the kindness of our hearts, we leave this, our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I

Section 1

To the faculty we leave our thanks for their guidance and ever-ready willingness to help us, for without their leadership and inspiration we could not have succeeded.

Section 2

To Dr. Pressly we leave our heartfelt gratitude for the unflinching interest he has shown in each one of us. We can never adequately express our thanks for all that he has done for us and all that he has meant to us during our years at Peace.

Section 3

To Miss Hall, for her direction and for her warm sense of humor that has made our life here at Peace more like home, we leave our love and sincere thanks.

Section 4

To Miss Suter, our class sponsor, we leave a classful of thanks. We shall always remember her real interest in and enthusiasm for all our activities.

ARTICLE II

Section 1

To the Junior Class, who will be next year's Seniors, we leave our deepest sympathy and understanding. (Take it from us, they never had it so good!) We hope that the best will be theirs in every way, not only at Peace but also in the days to come.

ARTICLE III

Section 1

I, Mary Ross Anderson, leave to Barbara

Winfrey my consolation in the fact that "diamonds aren't as big as bricks."

Section 2

I, LaVerne Bagley, leave my afternoons in the library to some hard-working day student.

Section 3

I, Martha Black, leave my sophisticated manner to Barbara Bell.

Section 4

I, Jackie Blackman, leave all my good-looking clothes to those who need them.

Section 5

I, Betty Bright, leave the checking of the General Privilege book to the next secretary of the Student Council, with deepest sympathy.

Section 6

I, Marie Broetzman, leave my quiet manner to Susanne Chamblee.

Section 7

I, Sally Bullock, leave my Tuesday afternoon meetings of the P.S.C.A. Cabinet to the next president.

Section 8

I, Sylvia Burnett, leave my fickleness to Nancy Davis.

Section 9

I, Shirley Cameron, leave to go to California.

Section 10

I, Lou Carter, leave for the "Little Drug."

Section 11

I, June Chamblee, leave my shorthand book and all its troubles.

Section 12

I, Frances Civils, leave all my many phone calls to some lonely Junior.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

CLASS PROPHECY

"Whoops!! I believe I am falling down,
down,
down,
down,

Ohh!" such was my recent exclamation as I found myself accompanying Alice through the keyhole and down into the pit which led to the magic world of Wonderland. Everything was as I had imagined it—a dreamer's fairyland. I caught my breath and eagerly scanned the fabulous surroundings of my newly-found Utopia among the "glitter and the gold." I felt a thrill of excitement pass through me as Alice began to introduce me to her unique companions. The Walrus clasped my hand most affectionately, and I knew right away that it would be a friendly place indeed! I met many others in the next few minutes, but the shock of my life followed soon afterward. It was fine for one to be in Wonderland with the Mad Hatter, the Walrus, the March Hare, the Cheshire Cat, the Mock Turtle, and all the characters that one reads about; but can you imagine how it felt to see another human—and of all things an old Peace girl—Sylvia Morrow. I pushed my way through the group until I reached her side and we began to talk. She told me that she is head of the "Cham"-pions Corporation these days and really does like the work. I asked Sylvia about her old roommates, Ann Bostic Reynolds and Martha Black. She said that Ann is busy these days modeling Studebakers for her hubby, Bill, and that Martha is training tigers for an act in Barnum-Bailey Circus. The act, by the way, has the catchy name of "Claw and Son."

Sylvia Burnett was there too, surrounded by numerous Wonderland personalities. I was thrilled to hear about her opening at the Palladium in London. It seems that Sylvia has made quite a hit by taking Joan Crawford's place in "The Torch Song." Speaking of show business, Rose Marie Dennis, Ros Shelton, and Jackie Blackman have signed a contract with the Ice Follies Show. Betty Reese Sugg was supposed to have starred with them, but she has a full-time job looking after a new generation of future Sigma Nu's.

I left Sylvia and was following Alice on through the group when I suddenly came upon more Peace girls. Shirley Councilman and Harri Heaton had detoured by Wonderland on their way home from Spain where Shirley has been brushing up on her title as the "first woman Matador." Shirley said she had a grand audience, but that her favorite fan was a fellow named Bobby. Harri had been engaged in giving dancing lessons to the chorus line of "Carmen." I was still talking to Harri when I glimpsed Sally Thompson, LaVerne Bagley, and Gayle Hayes. They had been to Egypt studying the hieroglyphics in the Nile River Valley, hoping to find a new formula for mud packs. Sally said they had not been too successful and had come to Wonderland because the Nile mud was a little "goosey." Frances Civils and Linda Johnson were busy styling "Alice haircuts" since the "Italian boy" has gone out of vogue. June Dale McLamb was supposed to join them, but she is still working on the "bowl cut." Her practice model, by the way, is Linda's brother.

Just at that moment I heard the sweetest sound that had come to my ears since the 10:00 p.m. bell at Peace. I looked all around, and to my astonishment found Mary Ross Anderson making "Wonder-wax" recordings of a nightingale's call for children's records. She makes her records under the name of Jenny Lind. I hear she really has "Hooked" a good deal!

Nancy Hambright and June Chamblee were absorbed in watching "Tweedledee" and "Tweedledum" teach the Lion to sing "A Very Happy Unbirthday." Nancy has just finished her new best-seller, "Why I Don't Eat Spinach!"

CLASS PROPHECY

Speaking of vegetables, Margaret Stafford was having a business conference with the March Hare as I approached. She told me that she was planning to expand her lettuce canning factory, and she thought that a rabbit's advice on the matter would be beneficial! Margaret said that she hadn't got much information since Mr. Hare was completely worn out from Lou Carter, Gwen Fussell, and Janet Hodgkin's efforts to teach him the "Bunny Hop."

I felt the need of some nourishment, and so Alice told me to go over to the concession stand. Patsy Inman and Joyce Grantham were found standing behind the counter. Patsy said that they made a good profit from "Big Orange Drinks" down in Wonderland.

As I stood talking to these two, I saw something which really did renew old memories. Over on the stairs leading into Wonderland sat Phoebe Fair and Jean Peake. One would never guess what they were doing—knitting the "goods," of course!! Phoebe keeps husband Dan well supplied, but Jean's problem is that Bryant has a football team. I am sure you have heard the expression "all brawn and no brain"—well, the quip for this situation is "eleven pairs of feet, but no socks!" There were all sorts of noises, "and I don't know what all," when I spied Sally Bullock steering her way through the deluge. It seems that she is quite a universal figure these days, and it was a real pleasure to see her. When I asked Sally what she was doing in Wonderland, she replied that she and Dixie McEwen, who is now a famous French designer and model, had come down to christen the new Wonder-ocean liner, "Her Majesty Stovall."

While I was still talking to Sally and Dixie, I saw Betty Bright and Shirley Cameron standing by a huge bonfire toasting chocolate-covered marshmallows. Inflation—American style—really has set in down here. They were selling them two for twenty cents—but when one is hungry . . .

Alice and I strolled on, and as we walked I looked back in retrospect at some of the gay years at my Alma Mater. As we talked I heard the sound of a most familiar voice. Imagine my surprise to find my old "roomie," Nancy Ragan, entertaining the Wonderland menagerie with her rendition of the new hit song, "Jimmie A Little Kiss."

Speaking of hits, Fay Jackson was over in another group teaching the steps to the "Morehead City Bop." Because of this new rage I believe Squibb and Company will make a small fortune on vitamin pills. It takes energy, my friends!

The pedestrian traffic was getting rather involved, and Alice and I decided to fight our way through the crowd to get back to the entrance to Wonderland. Two Peace girls, Jackie Pate and Betty Parrish were helping in the direction of traffic. I asked them if they had seen my old friend, Rose Dickinson, and they told me that she could not come down since there would be no one to look after her big Jonathan and some other reasons—about four I think.

As Alice and I reached the gate, I was "shook" to see Marie Broetzman standing at the stairway to Wonderland, screaming through a huge red megaphone, "When you get to the states, go Seaboard!" I found out later that Seaboard doesn't have a Wonderland line yet, but they are working on it!

Sad as it makes me, I must close now. I hated to leave the magical Wonderland, Alice, all her friends, and the old Peace girls, but we all must go on with everyday jobs. Mine, by the way, is raising "Anteaters"—six by count, and it really is a full time occupation in the Woollen household. However, I do send you a sincere invitation to drop in and visit us any time you are near High Point. Let me add though that you should bring your spinning wheel 'cause "What it was was the textile business!"

BOARDING STUDENT COUNCIL

MARY ROSS ANDERSON
President

Nine girls chosen by popular vote make up the Boarding Student Council. Each girl is on her honor to maintain order and uphold the standards and ideals of Peace. The Council plans and sponsors many campus activities throughout the year. The desire of the Peace Student Government is to achieve a government BY and FOR the girls.

THE DAY STUDENT COUNCIL

To foster the interests of the day students so that they feel just as much a part of Peace as the boarding students is the purpose of the Day Student Council. The Council is made up of four girls who encourage the day students to uphold the morals, standards, and ideals characteristic of our beloved Alma Mater.

The 1954 Lotus

EDITORIAL STAFF

As you turn through the pages of the LOTUS of 1953-54, we of the Editorial Staff hope that you have as thrilling an adventure as Alice had in Wonderland. We have tried to give you an annual that you in years to come will read and one that will remind you of your days spent at Peace College.

We are grateful to Lewis Carroll for his assistance to our originality. To our adviser, Miss Oates, we extend our heartfelt thanks for giving us her time and guidance in preparing for you this Lotus.

BUSINESS STAFF

During the year of 1953-54, we the members of the Business Staff solicited money for the financing of the LOTUS. With the help of our adviser, Miss Lyda Baucom, we visited on foot and in the school car those business firms that are interested in the success of our annual.

It is our sincere hope that our efforts have not been in vain and that we have helped in some way to bring you an annual that you will cherish and enjoy forever.

P. S. C. A.

SALLY BULLOCK
President

The Peace Student Christian Association is composed of the entire student body and is the center of the religious activities on our campus. Its activities are under the leadership of a cabinet of twelve members, with Miss Lucy Steele as the adviser until her death in January.

It is the purpose of the P.S.C.A. to encourage each girl to know Christ as a real person in her life and to help her to grow in her faith. The P.S.C.A. programs and services are student planned and student presented, making the days here at Peace truly "days of preparation" for greater service as Christian women in our homes and churches.

PHI THETA KAPPA

The purpose of the Phi Theta Kappa Honorary Fraternity is to recognize scholarship and leadership among students of junior colleges. The members of the Peace chapter of this fraternity are recognized through their chapter and function through other campus organizations. Members are encouraged to attain greater heights and uphold the motto of wisdom, aspiration, and purity.

SIGMA PI ALPHA

*SYLVIA MORROW
President*

The Theta Chapter of Sigma Pi Alpha, a National Honorary Language Fraternity, was established in 1939 at Peace in order to give recognition to the girls having a special interest in languages. The purpose of this organization is to promote a better understanding between America and other countries by acquiring a more intimate knowledge of the language, people, and customs of these countries.

ALPHA PI EPSILON

Alpha—Accuracy
Pi— Dependability
Epsilon— Efficiency

The Alpha Pi Epsilon is a National Honorary Secretarial Society, whose purpose is to professionalize the status of the college-trained secretary. Membership in this society is restricted to students of superior scholarship, personality, and character.

DAUGHTERS AND GRANDDAUGHTERS CLUB

ELIZABETH WATKINS
President

The girls whose mothers or grandmothers were once "old girls" at Peace make up the members of the Daughters and Granddaughters Club. The club's functions are to act as hostess to visiting alumnae and help carry on all the traditions of Peace College.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club is composed of Peace girls who are interested in current events and world problems. The programs of the monthly meetings feature student discussions and outside speakers. The Club promotes interest in world affairs and encourages the study of present day world problems among the students.

ART CLUB

HARRI HEATON
President

The Elsie Robertson Art Club teaches its members to appreciate beauty by presenting lectures, films, and demonstrations in various phases of art. Visits to the State Art Gallery with Miss Pugh, the faculty adviser, and the campaign each year to raise money for the Art Scholarship Fund are activities which the club members enjoy.

THE CHOIR

The members of the Peace Choir have developed, through their work together, a fuller appreciation of good music. The director, Dr. Carl Hjortsvang, has made the Choir one of the most active organizations at Peace. This year's activities have included Christmas and Spring concerts and a broadcast of Christmas music. The Choir has also assisted several times at the Sunday morning service at the First Presbyterian Church and has contributed at various times to our own chapel services. It may be said that Peace has received laudable recognition in the community through the work of her Choir.

PAPYRUS CLUB

The Papyrus Club is a literary organization which serves as a channel through which student writers may present their creative work. The members of the Club publish many of their poems, stories, and essays in "Peace O' Paper" which is compiled by this Club and the Senior Prep Class. This group of students takes pride in presenting its work to the school, and its members enjoy working together as a club which promotes literary interest among the students.

SIGMA PHI KAPPA

SYLVIA MORROW
President

From the beginning of the school year, the old Sigs worked hard to get the best girls; and they got fifty of them on Pledge Day! The impressive formal initiation took place in the parlor in November, and several weeks later the exciting Society Banquet was held. Rush Week, Rat Day, dances, and sports tournaments—these events will always be treasured in the hearts of former Sigs when they reminisce about their days at Peace.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

PAISY INMAN
President

The activities of the Athletic Association, an organization from which each girl receives recreation and fellowship, give us relaxation from our academic work. With the aid of our faculty sponsor and friend, Miss Joyce Fowler, the Association is able to maintain the "Little Store" to provide the girls with the treats they desire. May this organization serve as an inspiration for the continuation of good sportsmanship within Peace, from the underhand volley to the overhead pass.

OUTSTANDING SENIORS

MARY ROSS ANDERSON

There is the saying, "Good things come in small packages," that could not be truer of any one than of Mary Ross. Mary Ross came to Peace as a junior in high school, and she has culminated three years of honors with her election to the most important office at Peace, President of the Student Council. Not only has Mary Ross been active in school affairs but she has gained the respect, admiration, and affection of all those who know her. Her influence has been felt by all of us, and even after we leave Peace, we will recall her friendliness and her quiet calm leadership.

MARTHA BLACK

Martha is a very active Peace girl who has proved over and over again her capabilities. As secretary of the P.S.C.A. Martha displays her ability to work with others. She is representative of the student body to the Student Council, a member of the business staff of the LOTUS, and a member of the Daughters and Granddaughters Club. We know that in whatever Martha decides to do, she will be successful.

OUTSTANDING SENIORS

MARIE BROETZMAN

A lovable friend to all who know her and a capable leader on our campus, Marie is hailed as one of our outstanding seniors. Serving as the Business Manager of the Lotus has required much effort and responsibility, which she has accepted enthusiastically. Such a friend and leader as Marie reflects our Peace spirit and ideals.

"We looked, admired, and measured, and still we could not sum her values."

SHIRLEY COUNCILMAN

Words cannot justly portray Shirley's outstanding qualities. Honored by all Peace girls for her versatility in campus activities and her capability in scholastic achievements, an ideal to many and a friend to all, Shirley is characterized by her warm smile and her affable disposition. Years shall not erase our memory of this girl who is loved and admired by each of us.

OUTSTANDING SENIORS

ROSE DICKINSON

Peace is certainly fortunate to have attracted such a day student as the Editor of the LOTUS of 1954. Rose Dickinson has stepped into the activities at Peace with the greatest of ease. She is superior, not only in editorial abilities but also in the field of painting. Rose is outstanding for her personal accomplishments and for her capacity to get others to work for her. Peace is proud of her day students when they can bring her a Rose Dickinson.

GWEN FUSSELL

A little Peace girl, a loyal Peace girl. Gwen is like a tiny ray of sunlight, brightening the day of all those she meets. She has endeared herself to everyone at Peace by her sweet air, her pleasant disposition, and her deep interest in the Cabinet and all academic activities. We know that she will, through her religious zeal and her ambition, become successful in the field she has chosen—Director of Christian Education.

OUTSTANDING SENIORS

PATSY INMAN

Quiet, steadfast, and faithful—that is Patsy, who has won a special place in all our hearts. Patsy is a girl of few words, but when she speaks we listen. As President of the Athletic Council and a member of many organizations, she takes an active interest in what goes on at Peace. Her strong dependability, good nature, and willingness to help others make her outstanding among her friends and respected by all.

SALLY THOMPSON

Wit, good humor, and wisdom are rarely found in one person. However, we believe that Peace has found one who exhibits such traits, Sally Thompson. Sally has served this year as President of the Day Student Council, and her interest in Peace is displayed in her efforts to strengthen the ties of our day students to Peace. Sally is talented in the field of painting, and her work has been a source of pleasure to us. Peace bows gratefully to Sally Thompson for her pleasing personality and academic accomplishments and wishes her all success.

TRADITIONAL SNAPSHOTS

ALMA MATER

In the heart of Carolina,
'Neath the skies of blue,

Stands our noble Alma Mater,
Glorious to view.

Classic in her broad proportions,
Looks she proudly down—

Reared against the arch of heaven,
With the stars for crown.

CHORUS

Lift the chorus, speed it onward;
Let it never cease;

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater;
Hail, all hail, to Peace!
